

Guidelines to Authors

The magazine welcomes opinion, case studies, traditional knowledge, experiences related to soil health and land management, new knowledge in soil health management, use of various nutrient inputs, agronomic aspects of soil management, conservation of land resources etc. While sending articles authors need to take care of the following points

- ✎ Article should be in concise form (1000 -1500 words) including one or two good quality photographs relevant to the topic.
- ✎ Authors should take care of Plagiarism while preparing the article. Articles with $\geq 10\%$ plagiarism will not be considered for publishing.
- ✎ References should be restricted to a maximum of 10. Please check the previous issues of the magazine for the citation style.
- ✎ Send your articles to editorharitdhara@gmail.com