

ICAR- Indian Institute of Soil Science, Bhopal organized the Training on soil health management cum Agricultural Inputs Distribution Programme at KVK, Barwani for Tribal Farmers of Barwani District Madhya Pradesh

ICAR- Indian Institute of Soil Science, Bhopal (M.P.) organized Training Cum Agricultural Inputs Distribution Programme at KVK Barwani of Madhya Pradesh on November 20, 2023 for Tribal Farmers of Barwani District Madhya Pradesh. The programme started on 11 AM and about fifty tribal farmers were participated from different villages of Barwani district of Madhya Pradesh. Dr. S.K. Badodiya, In-charge of KVK, Barwani addressed about importance of KVK and their activities for this region. He also addressed about importance of soil testing and seed treatment for crop production to the tribal farmers of Barwani district. Dr. R.K. Singh Pr. Scientist of ICAR-IISS, Bhopal talked about the TSP Scheme of ICAR for the tribals farmers and activities of the project under TSP. He also addressed on agriculture conservation and soil health in agriculture. Dr Jitendra Kumar Sr. Scientist of ICAR-IISS, Bhopal addressed on integrated nutrient management in crop production. Dr. Asit Mandal Sr. Scientist of ICAR-IISS, Bhopal emphased on organic farming and soil health. Dr Dhiraj Kumar Scientist of ICAR-IISS, Bhopal emphasized about importance of soil health cards in crop production to the tribals farmers of Barwani district. Dr Ravindra Sikarwar, scientist addressed on climate change based integrated agriculture faming system. During the programme the vedio film was also shown to the farmers on seed treatment of chickpea. At the end of the programme, the Wheat and gram (chickpea) were distributed to tribal farmers of different villages in Barwani district. The programme was concluded with vote of thanks.

